
Editorial

This is now the third issue to be published by us at Palgrave Macmillan, the new publisher of the Journal, and the last in the current volume of the Journal of Commercial Biotechnology. We are very pleased to have added this quality title to our Journals portfolio and hope to continue and build on the excellent work that Henry Stewart Publications carried out before us.

We are extremely pleased that our eminent Editorial Board will continue to work with us and are grateful for the hard work they have done in the past in reviewing papers, suggesting topics and potential authors and steering the Journal in the right direction.

With the new publisher comes a new website address, which can be accessed at:
<http://www.palgrave-journals.com/jcb/index.html>

At the website you will find details on the scope of the Journal, updated 'instructions for authors' and details of our 'E-alerts' table of contents alerting service, access to the online version of the Journal for subscribers (available through Ingenta), as well as links to other related Palgrave journals that may be of interest.

Although many of the papers in the Journal are commissioned we are always keen to accept original articles for publication from authors that may be of interest to the wider Journal readership. Potential authors should refer to the Journal website for guidance in preparing their manuscripts.

We would very much welcome any comments you may have about the Journal, both positive and negative. In addition we would particularly like to know if there are any particular subjects or issues which you would like to have covered in future issues of the Journal. We look forward to hearing from you.

With the continued and valued support from the Editorial Board and input from the Journal readership we are confident that we can maintain and improve upon the Journal's standing in the marketplace.
